V International Scientific and Technical Conference Actual Issues of Power Supply Systems

Improvement of the methodology for assessing the productivity of sunflower varieties based on the multilinear regression model with the optimal irrigation regime